

PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release 17th April 2014

Maritime specific eBooks from WHO (World Health Organisation) are now available to view and download via the 'Digital Publications Manager.'

Witherby Digital is delighted to announce that maritime specific eBooks from a second UN agency will soon be available via the Digital Publications Manager, alongside other important maritime publications and legislation.

The release of 4 eBooks by the WHO follows the successful development of eBooks for its sister UN Agency, the IMO (International Maritime Organization).

The eBooks, including 'International Medical Guide for Ships' and 'Guide to Ship Sanitation', are available to purchase online for a number of platforms, including PCs, windows based tablets and iPad, or from a local chart agent.

About: 'The Witherby Digital Publication Manager'

The Witherby Digital Publication Manager for Windows is available for free download from the Witherby Digital website, (www.witherbydigital.com). An App is also available that provides access to eBooks on iPads. An online Cloud based subscription is also available.

This software is used on many vessels to manage publications, regulatory products and other subscription services.
